

Orange Marmalade

Recipe Details

Cooking Time: 05 minutes

Method

1. Peel oranges. Lightly scrape off white part inside peel. Finely cut peel into small slivers. Remove pips and tie in a muslin. Cut up fruit, saving juice.
2. Put fruit along with juice, peel, pips and half the water (2½ cups) into cooker.
3. Close cooker. Bring to full pressure on high heat. Reduce heat and cook for 5 minutes.
4. Remove cooker from heat. Allow to cool naturally.
5. Open cooker. Lift out muslin. Squeeze it well against side of cooker to extract juice. Discard cloth. Transfer contents of cooker into a large saucepan.
6. Add remaining water (2½ cups) and lemon juice. Bring to boil on high heat. Reduce heat to medium. Add sugar gradually, stirring constantly until all sugar is dissolved.
7. Boil marmalade rapidly on high heat, until setting point is reached.
8. Remove from heat. Skim off any foam. Allow to cool until skin starts to form. Stir to distribute the peel. Pour marmalade into hot sterile jars. Seal.
